Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 16 January 2007.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Allowable Subject Matter

1. The indicated allowability of claims 27, 34 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Galel et al (US 5498239). Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 24-27, 28-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Galel et al (US 5498239). Galel discloses a catheter placement method comprising inserting a flexible cannula 11 into a body, inserting an elongate member 12 into the cannula, detachably attaching the distal end of the elongate member to the cannula, steering the distal end of the cannula to a desired site in the body, detaching and removing the elongate body from the cannula, and delivering an object or a substance to the body site through the lumen of the cannula (Abstract, Col. 5, lines 12-22). A stylet may be contained within the elongate member to stiffen the member and the cannula (Col. 7, lines 65-67).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 35-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Galel in view of Lorenzo et al (US 5993424). Claim 35 differs from Galel in calling for the elongate member to be a wire having a bend at the distal end. Lorenzo teaches a method of steering a catheter through body lumens comprising a wire having a preformed bend such that when the wire is inserted through a flexible cannula, the cannula assumes the shape of the wire and can be guided to a desired location within the body (Col. 3, lines 45-51). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the device of Galel so that the elongate member is a bent wire as taught by Lorenzo so that the flexible cannula can be guided to the desired location within the body.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 21-38 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
